AT A STANDSTILL?

Corsicana is a thriving city located in the heart of the black land belt. The city is also fortunate in being the center of the oil industry in this section of the state. Built upon the firm foundation of agriculture and oil the future holds much for Corsicana. We have shown unprecedented growth and development in the past few years and this onward march along the path of progress and prosperity should not be allowed to halt, even for a moment. With the almost perfect natural resources available there is no reason why Corsicana should not take its place among the major cities of the southwest before many years have pass-

Men of vision build cities. It is the men that can look into the future and back their judgment with their hard earned dollars that are responsible for the development of the growing communities.

Corsicana has any number of such men-men who have faith in Corsicana and who are willing and ready to back the city in any progressive move it may make However, the individual can accomplish little.

A constructive program hacked by a co-operative or-ganization of man power is Corsicana's greatest need just now. We are almost standing still and no city can do this. The community climbs the hill of prosperity or slips back.

Corsicana needs a number of things. None of them are impossible or unreasonable. Corsicana has the progressive citizenship with the desire to go forward. The majority of the Corsicana people want to see their city and keep pace with neighbors. The location of the times. All they need is a little encouragement and an organized program to work to. "I am so happy that the last pimple is gone—"

WITHOUT this handicap, there returns the very nat-ural confidence, joy and cher-ished pride of possessing a clear skin,

Men and women both justly covet admiration, and you can expect such satisfaction only if you are happy in a clear, un-blemished skin.

The sure way to reach this state is through the blood. Red blood cells are Nature's elements for building and sustaining the body. Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beauti-ful, healthy women.

You know a clear skin comes from within. Correct the cause—through the blood—and pimples, boils, eczema and that sallow complexion will disappear.

Thousands/have regained their strength and charm by taking a few bottles of S.S.S.— Nature's own tonic for restoring the appetite—building strength—and clearing the body of so-called skin troubles.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

DALLAS, July 7. (AP) Its smooth tin roof, bare of paint, reflecting heat waves from a blazing sun and the region about it as silent as the vaulted precincts of some ancient cathedral, the half finished fundamentalist Baptist tabernacle stood huge and gaunt under guard fo one deputy sheriff today. The scores of overalled, bonneted women who for two days slaved to complete the gigantic, sprawling structure, failed to return to their hot, hard work despite their threats hot, hard work despite their threats to dare jail under an injunction requiring the halting of construction.

At first the court writ was directed at men, voluntarily laboring to erect the tabernacle. The women threw themselves into the breach, holding that "men" did not encompass those of feminine gender.

Late vesterday the paper was changed to include "woman or per-sons" and work was halted. "No, there won't be any more work here," said the deputy. Bud work here," said the deputy, Bud Walker, sprawled easily on one of the rough benches scattered over the tabernacie."

Funeral arrangements for the former senator and member of the United States shipping board were not made pending arrival of members of his family.

The former senator surprised his friends in Washington in July, 1926, when he quietly went to Norfolk and was married to Mrs. Carolyn B. Shelton, who had been clerk to the senate military affairs committee. Mr. Chamberlain at the time gave his age as 72 and his bride gave hers as 49.

George Earle Chamberlain reached the peak of his public life when he was called upon to head the work of the senate military committee during the trying days of the World War.

As chairman of that committee, which framed legislation staggering to the imagination of a nation inured to the pursuits of peace, he probably was as close as any man to the inner workings of the or-

Backed Draft Act.

The draft act. which brought its millions of men into the ranks, was the one factor looked upon by Senator Chamberlain as assuring the winning of the war. Before its introduction, he had offered a compulsory service bill, and throughout the war and afterward he contended that his own measure, which threw the question open to debate, was responsible for the sucdebate, was responsible for the success of the legislation finally enacted. His own idea, he said, came from an almost forgotten document from an almost forgotten document in the war department archives written by Major General Emory Upton, a Civil War commander.

After taking on an amount of work during the war that would have exhausted a man of less physical endurance. Senator Chamberlain crossed swords with President Wilson, leader of his own party, in 1918, when he publicly charged that the war department had ceased to the war department had ceased to function. An open letter from President Wilson followed and the controversy was carried to the floor of the senate where the Oregon senator delivered a three hours' speech in support of his position. Born in Mississippi.

Senator Chamberlain was born on a plantation near Natchez.
Miss., January 1, 1854. He attended school there until 1870, when he, became a clerk in a general merchandise store. Graduating from Washington and Lee University in 1876, he moved to Linn county. One of the measures in which Senator Chamberlain took pride was that royising the articles of war. This legislation he contended climinated the "Prussian idea of absolute power of the men at the ton" and "liberalized and demotratized" the articles.

The National Defense Act of 1916, in the preparation of which he was identified, was urred by him as the basis for the expanded army in the war.

In the conduct of the war, Senator Chamberlain was one of the most vigorous opponents to the billeting of American troops with those of their associate nations, all ported Monday.

DATES IN CORSICANA CONTINUOUS ROUND CAM-PAIGN SPEAKERS APPEAR IN OFFING

Two additional speaking engagements of state candidates for Corsicana were announced over the week-end. Representative Tom Connolly of Marlin, candidate for the United States Senate, will be in Corsicana Tuesday, July 17, according to information received by H. C. Ballew, and will speak at the court house at 8:15 p. m.

Announcement was also made that Alvin Owsley, former national commander of the American Legion, and candidate for the United States Senate, would, be in Corsicana Thursday, July 19, and speak at the court house in the evening at 8 o'clock.

These two additional announcements schedule the leading candidates in the race for the senate to appear in Corsicana in less than a weeks time. Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham, another candidate for the place held by Senator Mayfield was in the city last week; and Senator Mayfield is scheduled to speak here at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, July 14.

LARGE CROWD URGED HEAR YOUNG PEOPLES BAND SAN ANGELO

The sale of tickets for the "Musical Festival" to be given by the San Angelo Salvation Army Young People's Band Tuesday evening is progressing nicely, over fifty tickets have been disposed of thus far. Corps Cadet Jaunita Ingram is leading in sales, having sold 28 up to last night. A special reward is being offered those selling the three highest amounts.

Captain Thomas states that a number of local business men had the pleasure of hearing this band in Dallas a week or so ago, and are very high in their praise of the class of music this group of young people play. The leader, who is only seventeen years old, is a musician of rare ability, his two sisters, are solo cornetests and a younger brother bass player. They are the children of Ensign and Mrs. O. Grief, officers in charge of the Salvation Army work in San Angelo.

PRICE MOVEMENTS IN STOCK MARKET

BRISK DEMAND, HOWEVER, SENT MAIL ORDER ISSUES TO HIGHER GROUND

NEW YORK, July 9.—(P)—Price July movements lacked uniformity at the opening of today's stock man becket. A brisk demand developed July proved fractionally. General Motors advanced 1 1-2 points and Anaconda, General Electric and U. S. Steel common showed fractional gains on initial transactions. Wright Aéronautical dropped 2 3-4 points on the first sale and Radio 1 3-4.

Buying orders quickly reached sufficient proportions to turn the general course of prices upward with the motor, food, mail order and rubber shares in the forefront of the advance. Pools resumed activities in a number of specialties, and there was a marked absence of any extensive "bear" operations.

Wright and Radio quickly recovered their losses and climbed above last week's final quotations. Montgomery-Ward advanced to a new 1928, high at 161. Midland Steel products. ket. Decries Competition Of U.S. Government

DETROIT, July 9.—(P)—Advertisers of America were called upon today to preserve and protect the nation's industries from what was termed "destructive government competition." In an address, prepared for delivery before the opening general session of the International Advertising Association Philip H. Gadsden, vice president of the United Gas Improvement Co. of Philadelphia, said "the only thing which can shake the credit and disturb the progress of America's industrial development is the menace of government competition."

VISIBLE IN TEXAS

Radio owners who blamed the "Texas weather" for the amount of static that interfered with the reception Saturday night, were in reality being treated to one of the unusual opportunities ever presented to inhabitants of this section of the country.

According to scientists in locality, the static was caused by the unusual brilliance of the display of the "Aurora borealis" or northern lights, which were visible for several hours Saturday evening for the first time perhaps in the history of Texas.

The multi-hued panorama was first presented about 10 o'clock and was visible for several hours, giving the people of Texas an opportunity to see the "one of the greatest attractions of the arctic regions. All of the colors of the spectrum were presented in varied shadings before finally fading out to the brilliant white, which results from a combination of all of them.
